Copyright 1936 By United Press PEKIN, ILL., Feb. 6.—(UP)—

Terror cut across the desperate general strike situation today. A food runner for strike-breakers was shot from ambush, Mayor William E. Schurman slept with a double-barrel shotgun leaning against his bed, and guards patrolled the water-works against dynamite. City authorities demanded martial law and the militia held in readiness at Peoria, 12 miles away.

The strike already had throttled all business in this town of 16,000 and gave indication of spreading to all industry. Drug stores, grocery stores, delicatessens, gasoline stations, barber shops—all were closed and pickets turned back food and fuel trucks at the town line.

Food is Preserved
A hotel proprietor gave food to visiting correspondents rather than risk the ire of the strikers by selling it. Householders applied to the strike committee for food permits which were issued grudgingly for small quantities. Householders preserved their food supplies carefully.

CITY OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES MUST GO WITHOUT SALARIES AS GENERAL FUND BALANCE IS $185

Treasury to Be Empty Until Tax is Distributed After April 1; Over $2,000 Paid in Back Bills Reduces Funds; Hospital in Difficulty, too

Circleville is "broke" and from all indications will remain that way until after April 1.

Under the situation councilmen, elective officials, firemen, policemen and all other city employees will receive no pay during February and March.

The city's general fund, which takes care of all operation expenses, had a balance of $185.10 on Feb. 5, according to a disheartening financial statement sent to councilmen Wednesday night by Miss Lillian Young, auditor.

All Paid Until Feb. 1

All city employees have been paid up to Feb. 1, Miss Young announced Thursday. When they receive their next pay checks will depend on when the city can obtain a draft on the December tax collection, to open March 15.

The city's financial situation has numerous causes, similar to conditions experienced in other Ohio cities. In previous years when the December tax collection was opened on the regular date, Dec. 20, the city obtained drafts to take care of expenses until the final distribution was completed. This year, the books will not open until March 15 and officials believed it would be April 1 or later until a draft could be obtained.

In 1934 and '35 drafts were obtained and the distribution was made about March 1.

Distribution Off

In the December distribution the city received approximately $14,000, or about $6,000 less than in previous year. This reduction was due to the lower real estate taxes and the fact the sales tax did not bring in the amount of revenue expected. The city expected to obtain about $5,000 from sales taxes and received $2,800. Changes in the sales tax laws are expected to bring in more revenue this year. Although the sales tax distributions are made monthly, Miss Young explained they would not be sufficient to take care of salaries during the next 60 days.

An annual report for 1935 prepared by Miss Young and presented to council by Ben Gordon, chairman of the finance committee, showed the total receipts for the city in 1935 were $46,765.05. The balance in city funds on Jan. 1, 1935 was $3,930.24 making a total of $50,695.29. Expenditures for the year totalled $46,273.17 and the city entered 1936 with a balance of $4,422.12.

Old Accounts Paid

Since the first of the year the city has settled more than $2,000 of worth of relief bills owed grocers, coal dealers, doctors and undertakers. When salaries and other expenses were paid the fund dropped to $185.

The balance of all city funds is $6,152.46, the statement shows. The funds are: general $185.10, library $3,370.67, auto-street repair $736.26, gasoline tax $366.67, Berger hospital $982.87 and Court-st and sewer projects $417.71.

Officials were unable to state whether employees at Berger hospital will receive their salaries during the next 60 days. The institution has a balance but all January bills have not been settled and it was impossible to estimate collections for the next two months.

C. O. Caskey, safety director, reported to council collections during January were $798.75. Mayor W. J. Graham collected $20 in fines in January.

Councilmen reported they had two methods of obtaining funds, by issuing bonds and obtaining loans from local banks to be paid when the distribution is made. A bond issue would have to be advertised and would not relieve the situation and they took no action on obtaining loans. The matter was not discussed at the meeting.

JUDGE'S INITIAL TASK MAY COME IN GAS CONTEST

Underwood Expected to Sit With Nevin and Allen in Portsmouth Fight

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—(UP)—One early task of Judge Mell G. Underwood, newly appointed to the federal district court bench here, may be to sit as a member of a special three-judge court to rehear the Portsmouth gas rate case.

The late Judge Benson W. Hough, together with Circuit Judge Florence E. Allen and district Judge Robert R. Nevin, of Cincinnati, heard this case Sept. 23, 1935.

A decision had not been reached when Judge Hough died in December and the failure of the two surviving judges to announce a decision since then has led to the belief there is a disagreement. Should such be the case, it would be necessary to rehear the case with Judge Underwood replacing Judge Hough.

The question at issue is whether the Ohio Lloyd act is an unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce when applied to a company wholesaling gas to an Ohio distributor but not itself doing business in Ohio. The act empowers the public utilities commission to regulate inter-company utility contracts.

When the commission ordered the United Fuel Gas Co., a West Virginia producer, to file reports for use in determining rates of the Portsmouth Gas Co., the former company appealed to the federal court, charging interference with interstate commerce.

The Portsmouth firm buys its gas from the West Virginia company. The two are non-affiliated, the retailer being an associated Gas & Electric System subsidiary and the wholesaler a Columbia Gas & Electric Corp. subsidiary.

Conciliation efforts progressed, but with little hope of ending the general strike. Conciliators met in Peoria to reconcile the American Distilling company and its employees—the strike that resulted in the general strike Monday. Martin Durkin, of the state department of labor, was confident that they would succeed. But the leaders of the general strike demanded the dismissal of Police Chief Harry Donohue as the price of peace and Mayor Schurman insisted he would not dismiss him.

Schurman, from his home guarded by three deputy sheriffs, said his life and the life of State Attorney Nathan Telford had been threatened.

Union leaders denied all charges of terrorism. Police Chief Donohue demanded the National Guard, joining the request of Mayor Schurman and State Attorney Telford, but their demands brought no response from Governor Horner. Donohue has 14 men. He said they were worn out by extended duty.

FAIR ENOUGH

CONGRESS having overridden the veto of the bonus bill, is now requested by the president to provide the money necessary to carry out the law which it enacted. This is fair enough. If congress was willing to authorize payment of the bonus in a presidential year it should now willingly assume the responsibility for the establishment of new taxes during a presidential year. Not a pleasant duty, it is true, but one made necessary by economic realities and by the common standard of political honor.

But perhaps the members of congress did not give a thought to the necessity of paying the bonus. Perhaps, like Micawber, they had faith that something would turn up, that, through some trick of necromancy, $2,400,000,000 would appear from nowhere. If this was their belief the ensuing disillusionment must indeed have been tragic.

Now the piper must be paid and the reckoning is just and heavy. It will be interesting to observe the resourcefulness which the statesmen will bring to a solution of this difficult problem of their own creation.

ODDS FAVOR MURDERER

STATISTICIANS have compiled figures which are disturbing to those who hope to witness one of these bright days a triumph of the cause of law and order.

There are thirty-three murders a day in the United States, the records show, or about 12,000 a year. More than 157,000 murderers are at large at the present time. The chances are three to one that they won't be caught, twelve to one they won't be convicted if caught and one hundred to one they won't be executed if convicted.

The situation is made more interesting by the functioning of a twenty-eight per cent deficient parole system that turns loose an army of desperate criminals each year to supplement the new crop of desperadoes.

These figures do not require exhaustive analysis or discussion to show the extent to which the crime situation has gotten out of hand in the United States.

Joe Robinson's plight merely is fresh proof of what happens when an individual permits himself to become somebody's man, and his owner calls upon him to dance.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Political and journalistic observers, who attended the recent gathering of southern constitutional Democrats, as they call themselves, at Macon (Ga.), are saying that the country will make a great mistake if it fails to reckon with the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith as a national campaign factor of importance.

The Rev. Mr. Smith will be recalled as the Louisiana clergyman who left the pulpit to join in Senator Huey P. Long's share-out-wealth crusade, who preached the "Kingfish's" funeral sermon, and who now claims, by inheritance, the leadership of the share-out-wealth movement.

Outside the Creole state, Americans have not had much chance hitherto to assess the southern cleric, but some excellent judges of an individual's possibilities of success in public life had an opportunity to see and hear him at Macon, and all of those with whom I have talked, a considerable number, speak of him very respectfully.

BETTER THAN LONG?

When I say "respectfully," I mean that they are respectful of what they conceive to be his potentialities as a political influence.

As one of the returned mem-

Washington told me, "I believe marks of a successful rabble-rouser."

I don't like to quote the term "rabble-rouser," but my informant employed it, and it has a significance that can't be duplicated by any substitute.

"He has," added my acquaintance, "the personality, the psychology, the language." "Is he as good?" I asked. "as Huey Long was?" "In some respects," my friend rejoined, "he's better."

This is going some. Yet it's the consensus among disinterested folk, back from Macon, that it's no exaggeration.

ECHO OF SLAIN SENATOR

The Rev. Gerald Smith, it is understood, will tour Louisiana and adjoining share-out-wealth states during the coming campaign with a cavalcade of sound trucks, broadcasting a series of records of Senator Long's speeches, delivered shortly before his death and giving Hall Columbia to the New Deal.

The program is for the Rev. Mr. Smith to open each meeting with something like this:

"Senator Long, done to death by his political enemies, addresses you from the grave." Thereupon the senator's record will be turned on and say its say. Then the Rev.

Smith will wind up with some

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

MUNITIONS BOOTLEGGERS SUPPLY GANGSTERS AND LATIN AMERICAN REVOLTS

WASHINGTON—A lurid story of how American army rifles and machine guns are used by munitions bootleggers to arm the gangsters of the United States and the revolutionaries of Latin America has been unearthed by the Senate Munitions Committee.

Due to lack of funds, the Committee may not get the entire story into the record. But here are its highlights:

U. S. Army rifles and other weapons unwanted by the Army must be broken up or sold in parts which cannot be used. However, munitions junk-dealers piece together the unbroken parts, and to handle them have established two private arsenals, famous throughout the underworld but unknown to the world at large.

One is an arsenal near New York. The other, is in Philadelphia, where the proprietor asks his customer to step out on the sidewalk to close a deal, so he can swear it was not made in his shop.

These munitions junk-dealers have been linked to almost every recent revolution in Latin America. In some cases also the deals were financed by reputable American business firms.

MRS. HUEY LONG

There is no room for Mrs. Huey Long on the Democratic side of the Senate chamber.

Her late husband's desk is now occupied by Senator Gore of Oklahoma. And Senator Gore's place has been taken in the shuffle resulting from the death of Senator Schall.

When Democrat Benson was appointed to fill the place of Republican Schall, he chose not to sit at the same desk, but to join his fellow Democrats on the other side of the aisle.

The empty Louisiana seat made it possible to admit him. But it made the room more lop-sided than ever—seventy Democrats to twenty-five on the other side.

When Mrs. Long comes, it will be seventy-one to twenty-five. And another desk will have to be moved over from the thin ranks of the Republicans.

BRAZILIAN REVOLT

The Munitions Committee is rounding out earlier evidence showing how the Curtiss-Wright Company diverted to the Sao Paulo revolutionaries in 1932 ten planes it was building for the Chilean Government. Simultaneously United Aircraft diverted to the Brazilian Federal Government several planes being constructed for the U. S. Navy, with the Navy's consent.

Lee Wade, ex-lieutenant in the Navy, has been subpoenaed by the committee to testify regarding another airplane deal which he arranged with Brazil at the same time and which promises startling angles.

The Senate committee also has dug up documents showing how American bootleg arms purchased through an alleged coffee loan, were put on board a Canadian boat and shipped to Brazil.

With All My Heart

BY SARA CHRISTY

READ THIS FIRST:

Thora Dahl, alone in New York, is seeking a position through an employment agency. She obtains the address, in the country, of Selwyn Marsh, an eccentric gentleman, seeking a housekeeper. Taking a train to Brookville, Thora walks to Four Acres and reaches the Marsh home. Thora meets Marsh and he agrees to give her a trial. She is to replace a Mrs. Myron who is going on a long vacation.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 5

"PERHAPS you had better tell me just what you will expect of me," suggested Thora.

"How the devil should I know?" Marsh picked up a pipe from the table and lighted it, before he added: "See that we have groceries, look out for the laundry bills . . . that sort of thing. We don't live so lavishly or entertain much . . . at least, we haven't. If you're bothered over the right forks, Mrs. Steele can set you straight." He blew a plume of smoke into the air.

"Mrs. Steele?"

"One of the neighbors. You'll see a good deal of her, I dare say."

Thora had a feeling that she was not going to care particularly for Mrs. Steele.

"You have other servants, I suppose," she ventured.

"Oh, yes. There's Katie Donahue and Pat. She's the cook, so you won't have to worry about the kitchen. I'd advise you not to, in fact. Pat is the chauffeur and general handyman. We've a couple of maids at the moment and a chore boy. Pat and Katie are a respectable married pair. It's a perfectly moral household, if you care to take my word for it. Perhaps you'd like some references."

Thora flushed slightly at his tone. "You haven't asked me anything about myself," she reminded him.

"I don't want to know anything today. I like to make my own judgments and I have considerable respect for your profession. Can you put up a fight?"

"A fight?"

"Yes. I'm hard to get along with and I can't bear having anybody around who likes to be walked on."

"I don't."

"Thought as much. You'll have your own rooms here and your living, of course. The salary is . . .

You get a week's advance, and no notice, if I fire you. If you don't suit, that's what will happen. Still want to try it?"

"Yes, sir."

"There's only one other thing." Marsh knocked the ashes from his pipe into a tray. "Don't let yourself as a servant here. Mrs. Myron has always been one of the family. I want someone in her place who can sit at my table . . . be a hostess in other words. If you had seen some of the specimens that Taggart woman sent me . . . Well, you'd know why I'm taking a chance on you. Go out and talk with Mrs. Myron."

"Very well, Mr. Marsh. And thank you."

"Save it. You'll find her out near the front door waiting to hear what's happened to you. She'll tell you about the job . . . me, too. If you get cold feet before morning, you might try and get word to me. I've got to have somebody."

"I will be here tomorrow. Early." Thora said it as she started to leave the room.

Little Mrs. Myron was waiting in the front hall, even as her employer had predicted.

"So he took you" were her first words, then she added frankly: "I was listening. But I didn't catch your name."

"It's Thora Dahl."

"Thora . . . that's pretty. Never heard it before. You came up to my sitting room and we'll talk. Then I'll show you the house. You're right young to be taking over a place like this. It won't be easy, you'll find."

"Mrs. Myron was starting up the stairs, throwing these bits of encouragement to her successor. "I hope you're strong and healthy."

"Perfectly."

"That's good. You need to be around this place."

Seated in a low chair, and rocking energetically, Mrs. Myron proved to be a willing dispenser of information.

Thora learned, without asking, that Selwyn Marsh was a wealthy man. He had married in his early twenties and his wife had died shortly after giving birth to their daughter. He never had married again.

"But don't you go getting the idea that he's been broken-hearted all these years," the rocking chair oracle explained. "His wife was older than him . . . one of those family arrangements. It was just as well. Elizabeth Marsh passed on. The two of 'em never would have made a go of it. No woman could ever live with Selwyn. I should know, because I was with Elizabeth before she was married. And I practically raised Wilma by myself. If it hadn't been for her father, I'd have made a good job of her, too."

"What does Mr. Marsh do?" Thora inquired respectfully.

"He doesn't have to do a thing . . . better off if he did. He puts at one thing and then he gets all wrapped up in something else. Just now, it's some kind of a book. When he gets one of his spells, he sticks in that library day and night. Won't hardly come to his meals and goes around looking like a tramp. I get so out of patience with him I don't know what to do. You can't do anything with him."

"He said he expected his daughter here soon."

"That's right. Her boat lands to-

"Can you put up a fight?"

day, I think. But there's no telling when she'll take the notion to come on home. Dottie Steele went to New York to meet her and look after her . . . help spend some more of Selwyn's money, I dare say."

That Mrs. Steele again. Thora was tempted to seek more definite information regarding this obliging neighbor, but decided against it. Instead, she suggested:

"Miss Wilma is grown up, I understand."

"Thinks she is," Mrs. Myron acknowledged with a sniff. "Her father put her through an expensive school and it didn't do her much good, to my way of thinking. She picked up a lot of tricks I don't care for, smoking . . . that sort of thing. I guess I'm behind the times. Do you smoke those cigarettes?"

"I haven't learned to, yet."

"Then don't. I heard you say something about teaching school. You look to me like you might have a lot of good sense. I hope you do stay here for a while. I wouldn't wonder but you might be a good influence for Wilma."

"Do you think so?" Thora was slightly amused at the idea.

"Yes, I do. She's always been a headstrong little tacker . . . very spoiled. I'm wondering why you never got married instead of working. Maybe you're figuring on it?"

Mrs. Myron ceased rocking and fixed her beady little eyes on her caller's face.

"No," Thora answered seriously. "I'm not even thinking about it."

"Too bad. I like you and I hope you won't mind my speaking plain, Miss Dahl."

"Please call me Thora."

"All right. What I was going to say is . . . I guess you know you're pretty. If you take my place here, it isn't going to be long before some folks will be making remarks. Selwyn will treat you like one of the family, if he takes a notion to you. I'll never occur to him that."

"I know," Thora interrupted soberly. "You're trying to tell me that I mustn't lose my head over Mr. Marsh. There isn't the slightest danger of it."

THE CONSTANT LOVER

Out upon it, I have loved
 Three whole days together!
 And am like to love three more,
 If it prove fair weather.

Time shall moult away his wings,
 Ere he shall discover
 In the whole wide world again
 Such a constant lover.

But the spite on't is, no praise
 Is due at all to me:
 Love with me had made no stays
 Had it any been but she.

Had it any been but she,
 And that very fate,
 There had been at least ere this
 A dozen in her place.

Miss Bennett Honored At Prenuptial Party

Mrs. Will Hostess at Tea; Marriage to Be Feb. 25

The first of the prenuptial parties planned in honor of Miss Ellen Bennett, S. Court-st., was a tea Wednesday afternoon at which her aunt, Mrs. Clark Will, W. Mound-st., was hostess at her home.

Miss Bennett's marriage to Mr. Albert E. M. Louer of Chicago, Ill., will take place Tuesday, Feb. 25. Due to the recent death of the bride-elect's grandfather, Col. C. E. Groce, the wedding will be an informal one at 6:45 o'clock at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Groce, S. Court-st.

The tea was a charming affair. Seventy-eight guests were invited to call at the Will home between 2:30 and 5:30 o'clock. They were received by Miss Bennett and her mother, Mrs. Frank Bennett, and by Mrs. Will.

Red roses decorated the home, and four cream-colored lighted tapers and a bowl of red roses made an attractive centerpiece for the tea table. Mrs. T. D. Harmon, Mrs. Robert Smith, and Miss Marian Huber poured. Others assisting in the dining room were Miss Ann Bennett, Mrs. J. E. Groom, Mrs. Lemuel Weldon, and Mrs. Harry Heffner.

Miss Bennett and sister, Miss Ann, left Thursday morning for Chicago where they will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. Foster Weldon of Evanston. They will remain until Monday and during their stay the bride-to-be will be honor guest at two parties.

Melton, Nichols, Others Make Friday Popular

Evening Program Becomes Diversified, and One of Finest of Week; Jack Benny to Be Fred Allen's Guest

Friday evening, long dull so far as brilliant radio programs is concerned, has blossomed into one of the finest evenings of the week. Splendid programs start early and continue late.

Outstanding, in the estimation of many, is that featuring James Melton, tenor star, on the Red Nichols program. It comes along at 8:30 over NBC-WLW and has "everything." Melton is one of the finest tenors on radio; his career has been a steady rise to the top, and his opportunities on the radio are unlimited.

Nicholas and his Pennies provide fine background for Melton's arias and popular numbers.

Some of the other Friday evening highlights are:
 Lazy Dan, the Minstrel Man, Edwin C. Hill, Eleanor Powell, Wendell Hall, the red-headed music maker, Frank Munn, Abe Lyman, Dick Powell, Fred Waring, Richard Himber, Stuart Allen, and Al Pearce's gang, truly an evening full of entertainment.

JACK BENNY GUEST

Benny will mix it up with Fred Allen when Benny, fresh from Hollywood, makes a guest appearance on Fred's Town Hall's Tonight broadcast as a special Lincoln's Birthday feature over an NBC-WEAF network on Wednesday, February 12, at 9:00 p. m., E.S.T.

The microphone meeting between America's top-ranking funsters is a return engagement, with Jack repaying the compliment.

The Allens and the Bennys have long been friends. Before their Hollywood ventures, they lived around the corner from one another.

SEVEN CONTESTS SCHEDULED FOR COURT QUINTETS

Tigers Go to Delaware; Three Teams in Running for Two Places in Tourney

The basketball menu in the county this week-end is a full one. The high school travels to Delaware for its Central Buckeye league game, hopes high for a victory.

Twelve of the county teams swing into action Friday evening with only one more week remaining in the schedule. Several postponed games must be cleaned up, however, before the tournament.

Monroe-two is the only team not scheduled in the county. Delaware is on top the C.B.L. with no defeats in five starts. The Tigers have lost twice, once to Delaware and once to Marysville. Both teams are above the Red and Black in the league standing with Westerville, Grandview and Bexley trailing.

Full Strength Ready
Coach Jack Landrum expects to have his full strength ready although he is not certain which of his boys will start. He has six ready to take their positions. Styers, Andrews, and Melson are almost sure of starting at the forwards and center while Henry, Friley and Jenkins will alternate at the guards. The latter's foot is healing, the coach reports.

County games include: Deercreek at Scioto, Walnut at Darby, New Holland at Perry, Pickaway at Jackson, Munroe at Washington, and Monree at Saltcreek.

The girls race has not been definitely decided although it seems certain Darby and Walnut will be two of the competing teams. Darby has a clean slate in 10 games while Walnut had lost once and been tied twice in nine contests. These teams meet Friday in probably the feature game of the week.

Three Seek Two Places

Pickaway, Monroe and Ashville are competing for the third and fourth places. The schedule favors Pickaway for one place with seven victories and three defeats. Pickaway must meet Jackson and Perry. Monroe, with seven and four must tangle with Ashville and that game may decide the fourth entrant.

The game announced for Wednesday evening at New Holland with Scioto as the opposition was postponed again when Commercial Point officials reported they misunderstood the date. New Holland teams were on the floor and the crowd ready when Coach Shadel Saunders, in a telephone conversation, learned Scioto thought the game was to be played next week.

MEANWELL AND SPEARS STUDIED BY REGENTS

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 6—(UP)—Investigation of Wisconsin's serio-comic athletic mess is expected to reach a dramatic climax today in the modestly furnished office of Dr. Glenn Frank, the university's erudite president.

A special committee of the board of regents, headed by Harold M. Wilkie, Madison attorney, will delve for the last time into conditions which may result in the firing of both Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, athletic director, and Clarence W. Spears, head coach.

About This And That In Many Sports

High Game Changed

County schools owe a debt of gratitude to local high school officials for having their Central Buckeye league game of Friday Feb. 28, against Westerville moved up to Feb. 27 to permit the county tournament to go on unimpeded. The Westerville game is expected to fill the C. A. C. gymnasium. Westerville incidentally has balked at the one official plan, so Principal Elmer E. Reger will have to obtain two—it's oked by us because the more officials there are on the floor the more fouls there will be called on Westerville (providing Bob Shea isn't one of the officials) ***

Detrick to Officiate

At Delaware tomorrow evening the Tigers will have two officials, one being Ray Detrick, Ohio Wesleyan's cage coach—Date may be in a tough humor after losing to Ohio U. Wednesday evening. The other will be King, a Delaware man ***

Job Not Permanent

Gil Dobie, original pessimistic football coach, leaves Cornell after 16 years of service—Maybe that was why Gil was so gloomy—he just knew the job wasn't going to be permanent ***

Dick Jensen Again?

Wonder if we're going to have to put up again with the announcing of Dick Jensen from the Red Bird stadium when the baseball season opens ***

Short, Galvin Named

Harry Short, brother of Forrest Short, county auditor, has been named a director of the Ohio Colt Racing association—W. J. Galvin of Wilmington, president of The Circleville Publishing Co., is also a director—Officers are T. A. Billingsley of Greenville, president; O. C. Belt of Columbus, vice president; Charles I. Gordon, Greenville, secretary-treasurer—Other directors are: W. D. Hughes of Van Wert, Irvin Ridenour of Lima, and Harry Crawford of Cincinnati ***

"Scout" Roof Among Best

Speaking of horsemen, our own Charles E. "Scout" Roof is the "tops"—"Scouter" is in charge of four horses and they come first. If it is meal-time the horses are fed before Mr. Roof—Every morning between 6 and 7, he treks to the stables to care for his pets—Many say Mr. Roof is one of the best trainers of colts in the state ***

CLEVELAND TO START LEAGUE RACE AT HOME

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(UP)—The world champion Detroit Tigers will open the 1936 baseball season away from home, according to the schedule released today. The Tigers will play a 3-game series at Cleveland, opening April 14, and then return home to open against the Chicago White Sox April 17.

The schedule calls for the usual 154 games, opening April 14 and closing Sept. 27. The opening day games are:

Detroit at Cleveland
St. Louis at Chicago
New York at Washington
Philadelphia at Boston.

300 SCHOOLS ARE INVITED TO MANSFIELD HI RELAYS

MANSFIELD, Feb. 6.—(UP)—

Invitations had been given 300 high schools in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky and Pennsylvania today to compete in the tenth annual Mansfield relays here April 18.

Harry Mehack, director of the relays, said it was the first time invitations had been tendered school outside the state.

OFFICIALS DEMAND SPEED OF FREIGHTS BE REDUCED

GATE TRANSFER URGED IN TALK BY STEINHAUSER

Third Ward Solon Declares Automobiles Endangered By Shifting Engines

Requests to slow down "time" freight trains and change the locations of three gates on the Norfolk & Western railroad will be sent company officials by council. Councilman Harry Steinhauser reported Wednesday he believed the west gates on the line at Mount, High and Main-sts should be moved further west so they included the switching tracks, explaining the present condition is dangerous for autoists. Many drivers, stopping for a train on the main line, park on the switching tracks.

"Time" freights have been passing through Circleville "between 55 and 60 miles an hour," according to Councilman Tull M. Barnes. The old city ordinance on the speed of trains was "eight miles per hour." Councilmen agreed this speed was unreasonable but recommended a letter be sent to the company urging the speed be reduced to about "25 or 30 miles per hour."

west the temperature dropped to 50 degrees below zero today, chilling huge masses of air which will follow the present sub-zero wave across the country.

Slight relief was expected in some parts of the midwest late today before the new Arctic blasts sweep toward the east. Abnormal temperatures continued in the vast territory from the Rockies to the Appalachians.

More than 50 deaths were attributed to the latest cold wave in one of the coldest winters on record. Most of the midwest was digging out of deep drifts which paralyzed rail and automobile transportation and forced closing of many rural schools.

Herring Asks Mine Aid
In Iowa snowplows were concentrated on side roads leading to soft coal mines. Scores of isolated towns reported fuel supplies practically exhausted. Gov. Clyde Herring awaited a reply from the mine operators after calling upon them to double shifts wherever possible and disregard their 35 hour week contracts.

Frantic request for fuel swamped the state capitol at Des Moines and a special corps of telephone operators was installed.

Rural communities in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri and Kentucky also reported acute coal shortages.

The mercury sank to 50 degrees below zero at the Pas, Man., while it was 48 below at Warroad, Minn., near the Canadian border, and 47 below at Eveleth, Minn.

CITY SEEKS AID TO CLEAR SNOW

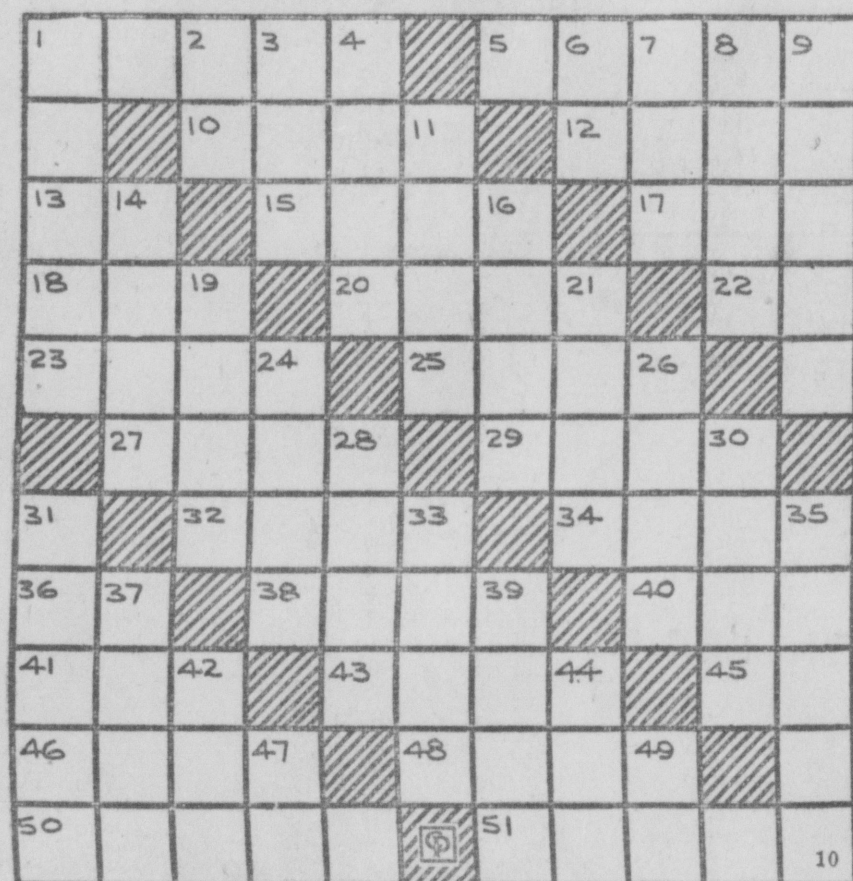

State to Be Asked to Help After Heavy Storms

Highway department officials will be asked to use their snow clearing equipment on at least two city streets in the future. During recent weeks Court and Main streets have been sheets of ice because the city was unable to clear them.

Councilman Tull Barnes explained if the streets are cleared it would save the city the expense of spreading sand and cinders and cleaning them up after the ice melts. The request was referred to the service committee.

Ohio U. Knocks Off Wesleyan to Aid Cincinnati

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—(UP)—A University of Cincinnati quintet which was accorded no better than third place in the pre-season ratings today was in a position to win its first undisputed Buckeye conference basketball ship since 1928.

Cincinnati won its fifth straight conference game last night when it nosed out Miami 36 to 34 in a game at Cincinnati. The triumph enabled the Bearcats to keep their conference record spotless and increase their league lead as Ohio Wesleyan, the defeating conference titlist, fell before Ohio university 42 to 29 at Athens.

Twice since 1928, Cincinnati has had a share in the Buckeye championship. In 1929 and 1930 it divided honors with Ohio Wesleyan, but unless the Bearcat machine falls completely apart in the last half of the season youthful Tay Brown's five will be the unchallenged ruler at the end of the present campaign.

Miami, fighting to break into the league's first division, put up a stubborn battle with Cincinnati, but didn't have quite the punch to gain a victory. Ohio's U's surprised triumph over Wesleyan sent it into second place ahead of the Bishops and a game and one-half to the rear of Cincinnati.

Wesleyan, below its championship standard all season, couldn't cope with Ohio's attack and trailed most of the game.

ILLINOIS TOWN DEMANDS MARTIAL LAW

TERROR SWEEPS PEKIN; OFFICIAL REPORTS THREAT

Food Runner Shot From Ambush While Mayor Sleeps Beside His Shotgun

GOV. HORNER IS SILENT

All Business Places Closed; Troops Remain in Peoria, 12 Miles Away

PEKIN, ILL., Feb. 6.—The Pekin general strike was broken today. Announcement was made by Jack Kinsella, labor leader and member of the "Labor General Staff" which had controlled Pekin business life for more than 24 hours.

Copyright 1936 By United Press

PEKIN, Ill., Feb. 6.—(UP)—

Terror cut across the desperate general strike situation today. A food runner for strike-breakers was shot from ambush, Mayor William E. Schurman slept with a double-barrel shotgun leaning against his bed, and guards patrolled the water-works against dynamiters. City authorities demanded martial law and the militia held in readiness at Peoria, 12 miles away.

The strike already had throttled all business in this town of 16,000 and gave indication of spreading to all industry. Drug stores, grocery stores, delicatessens, gasoline stations, barber shops—all were closed and pickets turned back food and fuel trucks at the town line.

Food is Preserved

A hotel proprietor gave food to visiting correspondents rather than risk the ire of the strikers by selling it. Householders applied to the strike committee for food permits which were issued grudgingly for small quantities. Householders preserved their food supplies carefully.

CITY OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES MUST GO WITHOUT SALARIES AS GENERAL FUND BALANCE IS $105

Treasury to Be Empty Until Tax is Distributed After April 1; Over $2,000 Paid in Back Bills Reduces Funds; Hospital in Difficulty, too

Circleville is "broke" and from all indications will remain that way until after April 1.

Under the situation councilmen, elective officials, firemen, policemen and all other city employees will receive no pay during February and March.

The city's general fund, which takes care of all operation expenses, had a balance of $185.10 on Feb. 5, according to a disheartening financial statement sent to councilmen Wednesday night by Miss Lillian Young, auditor.

All Paid Until Feb. 1

All city employees have been paid up to Feb. 1, Miss Young announced Thursday. When they receive their next pay checks will depend on when the city can obtain a draft on the December tax collection, to open March 15.

The city's financial situation has numerous causes, similar to conditions experienced in other Ohio cities. In previous years when the December tax collection was opened on the regular date, Dec. 20, the city obtained drafts to take care of expenses until the final distribution was completed. This year, the books will not open until March 15 and officials believed it would be April 1 or later until a draft could be obtained.

In 1934 and '35 drafts were obtained and the distribution was made about March 1.

Distribution Off

In the December distribution the city received approximately $14,000, or about $6,000 less than in previous year. This reduction was due to the lower real estate taxes and the fact the sales tax did not bring in the amount of revenue expected. The city expected to obtain about $5,000 from sales taxes and received $2,800. Changes in the sales tax laws are expected to bring in more revenue this year. Although the sales tax distributions are made monthly, Miss Young explained they would not be sufficient to take care of salaries during the next 60 days.

An annual report for 1935 prepared by Miss Young and presented to council by Ben Gordon, chairman of the finance committee, showed the total receipts for the city in 1935 were $46,765.05. The balance in city funds on Jan. 1, 1935 was $3,930.24 making a total of $50,695.29. Expenditures for the year totalled $46,273.17 and the city entered 1936 with a balance of $4,422.12.

Old Accounts Paid

Since the first of the year the city has settled more than $2,000 worth of relief bills owed grocers, coal dealers, doctors and undertakers. When salaries and other expenses were paid the fund dropped to $185.

The balance of all city funds is $6,152.46, the statement shows. The funds are: general $185.10, library $3,370.67, auto-street repair $736.26, gasoline tax $366.67, Berger hospital $982.87 and Court-st and sewer projects $417.71.

Officials were unable to state whether employees at Berger hospital will receive their salaries during the next 60 days. The institution has a balance but all January bills have not been settled and it was impossible to estimate collections for the next two months.

C. O. Caskey, safety director, reported to council collections during January were $798.75. Mayor W. J. Graham collected $20 in fines in January.

Councilmen reported they had two methods of obtaining funds, by issuing bonds and obtaining loans from local banks to be paid when the distribution is made. A bond issue would have to be advertised and would not relieve the situation and they took no action on obtaining loans. The matter was not discussed at the meeting.

Motion was filed in common pleas court Wednesday for a new trial in the guardianship case of Phillip Isaac Kern, Columbus, formerly of Jackson-twp. Judge Harry M. Rankin, Washington C. H., who heard the action, ordered the guardianship continued in a decision announced Tuesday morning. The case was an appeal from probate court.

GOVERNOR'S INITIAL ASK MAY COME IN GAS CONTEST

Underwood Expected to Sit With Nevin and Allen in Portsmouth Fight

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—(UP)—One early task of Judge Meil G. Underwood, newly appointed to the federal district court bench here, may be to sit as a member of a special three-judge court to rehear the Portsmouth gas rate case.

The late Judge Benson W. Hough, together with Circuit Judge Florence E. Allen and district Judge Robert R. Nevin, of Cincinnati, heard this case Sept. 23, 1935.

A decision had not been reached when Judge Hough died in December and the failure of the two surviving judges to announce a decision since then has led to the belief there is a disagreement. Should such be the case, it would be necessary to re-hear the case with Judge Underwood replacing Judge Hough.

The question at issue is whether the Ohio Lloyd act is an unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce when applied to a company wholesaling gas to an Ohio distributor but not itself doing business in Ohio. The act empowers the public utilities commission to regulate inter-company utility contracts.

When the commission ordered the United Fuel Gas Co., a West Virginia producer, to file reports for use in determining rates of the Portsmouth Gas Co., the former company appealed to the federal court, charging interference with interstate commerce.

The Portsmouth firm buys its gas from the West Virginia company. The two are non-affiliated, the retailer being an associated Gas & Electric System subsidiary and the wholesaler a Columbia Gas & Electric Corp., subsidiary.

Gov. Harry Horney, gave no indication of declaring martial law. Five companies of national guardsmen waited at Peoria and Delevan. Adj. Gen. Carlos Black said no immediate movement of troops was contemplated.

Clarence Rupp, operator of a non-union cab company which is alleged to have delivered food to strike breakers at the American Distilling company plant, was shot from ambush as he entered his home last night. The bullet entered his chest. He was said to be out of danger at Pekin public hospital.

Cancellation efforts progressed, but with little hope of ending the general strike. Conciliators met in Peoria to reconcile the American Distilling company and its employees—the strike that resulted in the general strike Monday. Martin Durkin, of the state department of labor, was confident that they would succeed. But the leaders of the general strike demanded the dismissal of Police Chief Harry Donohue as the price of peace and Mayor Schurman insisted he would not dismiss him.

Schurman, from his home guarded by three deputy sheriffs, said his life and the life of State Attorney Nathan Telford had been threatened.

Union leaders denied all charges of terrorism. Police Chief Donohue demanded the National Guard, joining the request of Mayor Schurman and State Attorney Telford, but their demands brought no response from Governor Horney. Donohue has 14 men. He said they were worn out by extended duty.

FAIR ENOUGH

CONGRESS having overridden the veto of the bonus bill, is now requested by the president to provide the money necessary to carry out the law which it enacted.
 This is fair enough. If congress was willing to authorize payment of the bonus in a presidential year it should now willingly assume the responsibility for the establishment of new taxes during a presidential year. Not a pleasant duty, it is true, but one made necessary by economic realities and by the common standard of political honor.

But perhaps the members of congress did not give a thought to the necessity of paying the bonus. Perhaps, like Micawber, they had faith that something would turn up, that, through some trick of necromancy, $2,400,000,000 would appear from nowhere. If this was their belief the ensuing disillusionment must indeed have been tragic.

Now the piper must be paid and the reckoning is just and heavy. It will be interesting to observe the resourcefulness with which the statesmen will bring to a solution of this difficult problem of their own recreation.

ODDS FAVOR MURDERER

STATISTICIANS have compiled figures which are disturbing to those who hope to witness one of these bright days a triumph of the cause of law and order.

There are thirty-three murders a day in the United States, the records show, or about 12,000 a year. More than 157,000 murderers are at large at the present time.
 The chances are three to one that they won't be caught, twelve to one they won't be convicted if caught and one hundred to one they won't be executed if convicted.

The situation is made more interesting by the functioning of a twenty-eight per cent deficient parole system that turns loose an army of desperate criminals each year to supplement the new crop of desperadoes.

These figures do not require exhaustive analysis or discussion to show the extent to which the crime situation has gotten out of hand in the United States.

Joe Robinson's plight merely is fresh proof of what happens when an individual permits himself to become somebody's man, and his owner calls upon him to dance.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Political and journalistic observations, who attended the recent gathering of southern constitutional Democrats at Macon (Ga.) are saying that the country will make a great mistake if it fails to reckon with the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith as a national campaign factor of importance.

The Rev. Mr. Smith will be recalled as the Louisiana clergyman who left the pulpit to join in Senator Huey P. Long's share-our-wealth crusade, who preached the "Kingfish's" funeral sermon, and who now claims, by inheritance, the leadership of the share-our-wealth movement.

Outside the Creole state, Americans have not had much chance hitherto to assess the southern cleric, but some excellent judges of an individual's possibilities of success in public life had an opportunity to see and hear him at Macon, and all of those with whom he talked, a considerable number of him, very respectful than Long?

MUNITIONS BOOTLEGGERS SUPPLY GANGSTERS AND LATIN AMERICAN REVOLTS

WASHINGTON—A lurid story of how American army rifles and machine guns are used by munitions bootleggers to arm the gangsters of the United States and the revolutionaries of Latin America has been unearthed by the Senate Munitions Committee.

Due to lack of funds, the Committee may not get the entire story into the record.
 But here are its highlights:

U. S. Army rifles and other weapons unwanted by the Army must be broken up or sold in parts which cannot be used.
 However, munitions junk-dealers piece together the unbroken parts, and to handle them have established two private arsenals, famous throughout the underworld but unknown to the world at large.

One is an arsenal near New York. The other, is in Philadelphia, where the proprietor asks his customer to step out on the sidewalk to close a deal, so he can swear it was not made in his shop.

These munitions junk-dealers have been linked to almost every recent revolution in Latin America. In some cases also the deals were financed by reputable American business firms.

MRS. HUEY LONG

There is no room for Mrs. Huey Long on the Democratic side of the Senate chamber.

Her late husband's desk is now occupied by Senator Gore of Oklahoma. And Senator Gore's place has been taken in the shuffle resulting from the death of Senator Schall.

When Democrat Benson was appointed to fill the place of Republican Schall, he chose not to sit at the same desk, but to join his fellow Democrats on the other side of the aisle.

The empty Louisiana seat made it possible to admit him. But it made the room more lop-sided than ever—seventy Democrats to twenty-five on the other side.

When Mrs. Long comes, it will be seventy-one to twenty-five. And another desk will have to be moved over from the thin ranks of the Republicans.

BRAZILIAN REVOLT

The Munitions Committee is rounding out earlier evidence showing how the Curtiss-Wright Company diverted to the Sao Paulo revolutionaries in 1932 ten planes it was building for the Chilean Government. Simultaneously United Aircraft diverted to the Brazilian Federal Government several planes being constructed for the U. S. Navy, with the Navy's consent.

Lee Wade, ex-lieutenant in the Navy, has been subpoenaed by the committee to testify regarding another airplane deal which he arranged with Brazil at the same time and which promises startling angles.

The Senate committee also has dug up documents showing how American bootleg arms purchased through an alleged coffee loan, were put on board a Canadian boat and shipped to Brazil.

With All My Heart

BY SARA CHRISTY

READ THIS FIRST:

Thora Dahl, alone in New York, is seeking a position through an employment agency. She obtains the address, in the country, of Selwyn Marsh, an eccentric gentleman, seeking a housekeeper. Taking a train to Brookville, Thora walks to Fair Acres and reaches the Marsh home.
 Thora meets Marsh and he agrees to give her a trial. She is to replace a Mrs. Marsh who is going on a long vacation.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 5
 "PERHAPS you had better tell me just what you will expect of me," suggested Thora.

"How the devil should I know?"
 Marsh picked up a pipe from the table and lighted it, before he added:
 "See that we have groceries, look out for the laundry bills—that sort of thing. We don't live so lavishly or entertain much—at least, we haven't. If you're bothered over the right forks, Mrs. Steele can set you straight." He blew a plume of smoke into the air.

"Mrs. Steele?"
 "One of the neighbors. You'll see a good deal of her, I dare say." Thora had a feeling that she was not going to care particularly for Mrs. Steele.

"You have other servants, I suppose?" she ventured.
 "Oh, yes. There's Katie Donahue and Pat. She's the cook, so you won't have to worry about the kitchen. I'd advise you not to, in fact. Pat is the chauffeur and general handyman. We've a couple of maids at the moment and a chore boy. Pat and Katie are a respectable married pair. It's a perfectly moral household, if you care to take my word for it. Perhaps you'd like some references yourself."

Thora flushed slightly at his tone.
 "You haven't asked me anything about myself," she reminded him.
 "I don't want to know anything today. I like to make my own judgments, and I have considerable respect for your profession. Can you put up a fight?"

"A fight?"
 "Yes. I'm hard to get along with and I can't bear having anybody around who likes to be walked on."

"I don't."
 "Thought as much. You'll have your own rooms here, you and your living, of course. The salary is . . .
 in your case, $50 a month to start.
 You get a week's advance and no notice, if I fire you. If you don't suit, that's what will happen. Still want to try it?"

"Yes, sir."
 "There's only one other thing."
 Marsh knocked the ashes from his pipe into a tray. "Don't list yourself as a servant here. Mrs. Myron has always been one of the family. I want someone in her place who can sit at my table as a hostess, in other words, if you had seen some of the specimens that Taggart wam-an sent me . . . Well, you'd know why I'm taking a chance on you.
 Go out and talk with Mrs. Myron."

"Very well, Mr. Marsh. And thank you."
 "Save it. You'll find her out near the front door waiting to hear what happened to you. She'll tell you about the job . . . me, too. If you get cold feet before morning, you might try and get word to me. I've got to have somebody."

"I will be here tomorrow, early."
 Thora said it as she started to leave the room.
 Little Mrs. Myron was waiting in the front hall, even as her employer had predicted.

"So he took you" were her first words.

words, then she added frankly: "I was listening. But I didn't catch your name."

"It's Thora Dahl."
 "Thora . . . that's pretty. Never heard it before. You come up to my sitting room and we'll talk. Then I'll show you the house. You're really going to be taking over a place like this? It isn't big, you'll find. Mrs. Myron was starting up the stairs, throwing these bits of encouragement to her successor. "I hope you're strong and healthy."

"I hope so."
 "That's good. You need to be around this place."
 Seated in a low chair, and rocking contentedly, Mrs. Myron proved to be a willing dispenser of information.

Thora learned, without asking, that Selwyn Marsh was a wealthy man. He had married in his early twenties and his wife had died shortly after giving birth to their daughter. He never had married again.

"But don't you go getting the idea that he's been broken-hearted all these years," the rocking chair lady explained. "His wife was older than him . . . one of those familiar arrangements. It was just as well Elizabeth Marsh passed on.
 The two of 'em never would have made a go of it. No woman could ever live with Selwyn. I should know, because I was with Elizabeth before she was married. And I practically raised Wilma by myself.
 If it hadn't been for her father, I'd have made a good job of her, too."

"What does Mr. Marsh do?" Thora inquired respectfully.

"He doesn't have to do a thing."
 "I should like to see him. He put on a thing and then he gets all wrapped up in something else. Just now, it's some kind of a book. When he gets one of his spells, he sticks in his library day and night. Won't hardly come to his meals and goes around looking like a tramp. I get so out of patience with him I don't know what to do. You can't do anything with him."

"He said he expected his daughter here soon."
 "That's right. Her boat lands today, I think. But there's no telling when she'll take the notion to come on home. Dottie Steele went to New York to meet her and look after her . . . help spend some more of Selwyn's money, I dare say."

"I haven't learned to, yet." Thora put her through an expensive school and it didn't do her much good, to my way of thinking. She picked up a lot of tricks I don't care for, smoking . . . that sort of thing.
 I guess I'm behind the times. Do you smoke those cigarettes?"

"No, I don't. I don't like to, yet."
 "Then don't. I heard you say something about teaching school.
 You look to me like you might have a lot of good sense. I hope you do stay here for a while. I wouldn't wonder but you might be a good influence for Wilma."

"Do you think so?" Thora was slightly amused at the idea.
 "Yes, I do. She's always been a headstrong little tacker . . . very spoiled. I'm wondering why you never got married instead of working. Maybe you're figuring on it?"
 Mrs. Myron ceased rocking and fixed her heady little eyes on her caller's face.

"No," Thora answered seriously.
 "I'm not even thinking about it."
 "Too bad. I like you and I hope you won't mind my speaking plain, Miss Dahl."

"Please call me Thora."
 "All right. What I was going to say is . . . I guess you know you're pretty. If you take my place here, it isn't going to be long before some folks will be making remarks. Selwyn will treat you like one of the family, if he takes a notion to you.
 I'll never occur to him that . . .
 "I know," Thora interrupted soberly.
 "You're trying to tell me that I mustn't lose my head over Mr.
 Marsh. There isn't the slightest danger of it."

Miss Bennett Honored At Prenuptial Party

Mrs. Will Hostess at Tea; Marriage to Be Feb. 25

The first of the prenuptial parties planned in honor of Miss Ellen Bennett, S. Court-st, was a tea Wednesday afternoon at which her aunt, Mrs. Clark Will, W. Mound-st, was hostess at her home.

Miss Bennett's marriage to Mr. Albert E. M. Louer of Chicago, Ill., will take place Tuesday, Feb. 25. Due to the recent death of the bride-elect's grandfather, Col. C. E. Groce, the wedding will be an informal one at 6:45 o'clock at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Groce, S. Court-st.

The tea was a charming affair. Seventy-eight guests were invited to call at the Will home between 2:30 and 5:30 o'clock. They were received by Miss Bennett and her mother, Mrs. Frank Bennett, and by Mrs. Will.

Red roses decorated the home, and four cream-colored lighted tapers and a bowl of red rosebuds made an attractive centerpiece for the tea table. Mrs. T. D. Harmon, Mrs. Robert Smith, and Miss Marian Hitler poured. Others assisting in the dining room were Miss Ann Bennett, Mrs. J. E. Groome, Mrs. Lemuel Weldon, and Mrs. Harry Heffner.

Miss Bennett and sister, Miss Ann, left Thursday morning for Chicago where they will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. Foster Weldon of Evanston. They will remain until Monday and during their stay the bride-to-be will be honor guest at two parties.

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Louer of the Shoreland Hotel will entertain with a dinner party for Miss Bennett and her fiancé, who is a nephew of the hosts, and Saturday noon Miss Bennett and her sister will attend a luncheon at which Miss May Ciesman will be hostess.

Melton, Nichols, Others Make Friday Popular

Evening Program Becomes Diversified, and One of Finest of Week; Jack Benny to Be Fred Allen's Guest

Friday evening, long dull so far as brilliant radio programs are concerned, has blossomed into one of the finest evenings of the week. Splendid programs start early and continue late.

Outstanding, in the estimation of many, is that featuring James Melton, tenor star, on the Red Nichols program. It comes along at 8:30 over NBC-WLW and has "everything." Melton is one of the finest tenors on radio; his career has been a steady rise to the top, and his opportunities on the radio are unlimited.

Nicholas and his Pennies provide fine background for Melton's songs and popular numbers. Some of the other Friday evening highlights are:

7:30—Battle of the Fish bowl, NBC.
8:00—Valley's hour, WLW.
8:30—Will Osborne's orchestra, WGN.
9:00—Lanny Ross and Conrad Thibault, NBC; Death Valley days, WLW.
10:00—Bing Crosby, WLW; Horace Heidt, CBS.

JACK BENNY GUEST

Benny will mix it up with Fred Allen when Benny, fresh from Hollywood, makes a guest appearance on Fred's Town Hall's Tonight broadcast as a special Lincoln's Birthday feature over an ABC-WEAF network on Wednesday, February 12, at 9:00 p. m., E. S. T.

The microphone meeting between America's top-ranking funsters is a return engagement, with Jack repaying the compliment.

The Allens and the Bennys have long been friends. Before their Hollywood ventures, they lived around the corner from one another.

MRS. CRYDER'S PROPERTY DIVIDED AMONG CHILDREN

All property of the late Hortense Cryder, Chillicothe, is left in equal shares to seven sons and one daughter by terms of the will filed in Ross-co probate court. The document was written Dec. 22, 1932. Beneficiaries are: Senet M. and Fulton A., this city; Roy F., Charles C., Frank T., Robert H., and George W. Cryder, and Helen C. Barnhart. Robert H. Cryder is named executor.

We strongly suspect that the Japanese delegates to the London Naval Conference just went on the trip.

SEVEN CONTESTS SCHEDULED FOR COURT QUINTETS

Tigers Go to Delaware; Three Teams in Running for Two Places in Tourney

The basketball menu in the county this week-end is a full one. The high school travels to Delaware for its Central Buckeye league game, hopes high for a victory.

Twelve of the county teams swing into action Friday evening with only one more week remaining in the schedule. Several postponed games must be cleaned up, however, before the tournament. Monroe-twip is the only team not scheduled in the county.

Delaware is on top the C.B.L. with no defeats in five starts. The Tigers have lost twice, once to Delaware and once to Marysville. Both teams are above the Red and Black in the league standing with Westerville, Grandview and Boxley trailing.

Full Strength Ready
Coach Jack Landrum expects to have his full strength ready although he is not certain which of his boys will start. He has six ready to take their positions. Styers, Andrews, and Melson are almost sure of starting at the forwards and center while Henry, Friley and Jenkins will alternate at the guards. The latter's foot is healing, the coach reports.

County games include:
Deercreek at Scioto, Walnut at Darby, New Holland at Perry, Pickaway at Jackson, Muhlenberg at Washington, and Monroe at Salt Creek.

The girls race has not been definitely decided although it seems certain Darby and Walnut will be two of the competing teams. Darby has a clean slate in 10 games while Walnut had lost once and been tied twice in nine contests. These teams meet Friday in probably the feature game of the week.

Three Seek Two Places
Pickaway, Monroe and Ashville are competing for the third and fourth places. The schedule favors Pickaway for one place with seven victories and three defeats. Pickaway must meet Jackson and Perry, Monroe, with seven and four must tangle with Ashville and that game may decide the fourth entrant.

The game announced for Wednesday evening at New Holland with Scioto as the opposition was postponed again when Commercial Point officials reported they misunderstood the date. New Holland teams were on the floor and the crowd ready when Coach Shadel Saunders, in a telephone conversation, learned Scioto thought the game was to be played next week.

MEANWELL AND SPEARS STUDIED BY REGENTS

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 6—(UP)—Investigation of Wisconsin's serio-comic athletic mess is expected to reach a dramatic climax today in the modestly furnished office of Dr. Glenn Frank, the university's erudite president.

A special committee of the board of regents, headed by Harold M. Wilkie, Madison attorney, will delve for the last time into conditions which may result in the firing of both Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, athletic director, and Clarence W. Spears, head coach.

About This And That In Many Sports

High Game Changed

County schools owe a debt of gratitude to local high school officials for having their Central Buckeye league game of Friday Feb. 28, against Westerville moved up to Feb. 27 to permit the county tournament to go on unimpeded. The Westerville game is expected to fill the C. A. C. gymnasium. Westerville incidentally has balked at the one official plan, so Principal Elmer E. Reger will have to obtain two—it's okeh by us because the more officials there are on the floor the more fouls there will be against Westerville (providing Bob Shea isn't one of the officials) * * *

Detrick to Officiate

At Delaware tomorrow evening the Tigers will have two officials, one being Ray Detrick, Ohio Wesleyan's cage coach—Date may be in a tough humor after losing to Ohio U. Wednesday evening. The other will be King, a Delaware man * * *

Job Not Permanent

Gil Dobie, original pessimistic football coach, leaves Cornell after 16 years of service—Maybe that was why Gil was so gloomy—he just knew the job wasn't going to be permanent * * *

Dick Jemison Again?

Wonder if we're going to have to put up again with the announcing of Dick Jemison from the Red Bird stadium when the baseball season opens * * *

Short, Galvin Named

Harry Short, brother of Forrest Short, county auditor, has been named a director of the Ohio Colt Racing association—W. J. Galvin of Wilmington, president of The Circleville Publishing Co., is also a director—Officers are T. A. Billingsley of Greensville, president; O. C. Belt of Columbus, vice president; Charles I. Gordon, Greenville, secretary-treasurer—Other directors are: W. D. Hughes of Van Wert, Irvin Ridenour of Lima, and Harry Crawford of Cincinnati * * *

"Scoot" Roof Among Best

Speaking of horsemen, our own Charles E. "Scoot" Roof is the "tops"—"Scooter" is in charge of four horses and they come first. If it is meal-time the horses are fed before Mr. Roof—Every morning between 6 and 7, he treks to the stables to care for his pets—Many say Mr. Roof is one of the best trainers of colts in the state * * *

CLEVELAND TO START LEAGUE RACE AT HOME

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(UP)—The world champion Detroit Tigers will open the 1936 baseball season away from home, according to the schedule released today. The Tigers will play a 3-game series at Cleveland, opening April 14, and then return home to open against the Chicago White Sox April 17.

The schedule calls for the usual 154 games, opening April 14 and closing Sept. 27. The opening day games are:

Detroit at Cleveland
St. Louis at Chicago
New York at Washington
Philadelphia at Boston.

300 SCHOOLS ARE INVITED TO MANSFIELD HI RELAYS

MANSFIELD, Feb. 6—(UP)—

Invitations had been given 300 high schools in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky and Pennsylvania today to compete in the tenth annual Mansfield relays here April 18.

Harry Mechock, director of the relays, said it was the first time invitations had been tendered school outside the state.

OFFICIALS DEMAND SPEED OF FREIGHTS BE REDUCED

GATE TRANSFER URGED IN TALK BY STEINHAUSER

Third Ward Solon Declares Automobiles Endangered By Shifting Engines

Requests to slow down "time" freight trains and change the locations of three gates on the Norfolk & Western railroad will be sent company officials by councilman Harry Steinhauser reported Wednesday he believed the west gates on the line at Mound, High and Main-sts should be moved further west so they included the switching tracks, explaining the present condition is dangerous for autoists. Many drivers, stopping for a train on the main line, park on the switching tracks.

"Time" freights have been passing through Circleville "between 55 and 60 miles an hour," according to Councilman Tull M. Barnes. The old city ordinance on the speed of trains was "eight miles per hour." Councilmen agreed this speed was unreasonable, but recommended a letter be sent to the company urging the speed be reduced to about "25 or 30 miles per hour."

3 SHIPS BATTLE SEAS; 45 FEARED LOST ON FOURTH

West the temperature dropped to 50 degrees below zero today, chilling huge masses of air which will follow the present sub-zero wave across the country.

Slight relief was expected in some parts of the midwest late today before the new Arctic blasts sweep toward the east. Abnormal temperatures continued in the vast territory from the Rockies to the Appalachians.

More than 50 deaths were attributed to the latest cold wave in one of the coldest winters on record. Most of the midwest was digging out of deep drifts which paralyzed rail and automobile transportation and forced closing of many rural schools.

Herring Asks Mine Aid In Iowa snowplows were concentrated on side roads leading to soft coal mines. Scores of isolated towns reported fuel supplies practically exhausted. Gov. Clyde Herring awaited a reply from the mine operators after calling upon them to double shifts wherever possible and disregard their 35 hour week contracts.

Frantic request for fuel swamped the state capitol at Des Moines and a special corps of telephone operators was installed.

Rural communities in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri and Kentucky also reported acute coal shortages.

The mercury sank to 50 degrees below zero at the Pas, Man., while it was 48 below at Warroad, Minn., near the Canadian border, and 47 below at Eveleth, Minn.

LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD TO MEET THIS EVENING

An interesting meeting is planned by Trinity Lutheran brotherhood this evening in the parish house.

George Griffith is in charge of the "novelty" program. The brotherhood's attendance contest is continuing with losing teams to provide program and serve the food at a meeting later in the spring.

CITY SEEKS AID TO CLEAR SNOW

State to Be Asked to Help After Heavy Storms

Highway department officials will be asked to use their snow clearing equipment on at least two city streets in the future. During recent weeks Court and Main streets have been sheets of ice because the city was unable to clear them.

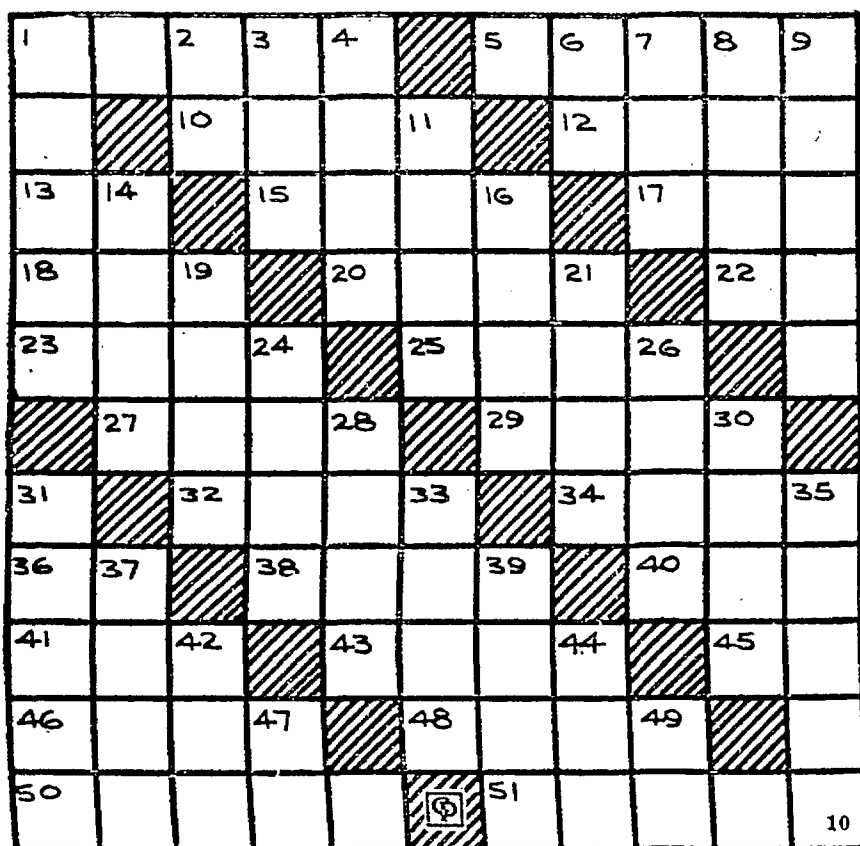

Councilman Tull Barnes explained if the streets are cleared it would save the city the expense of spreading sand and cinders and cleaning them up after the ice melts.

The request was referred to the service committee.

Ohio U. Knocks Off Wesleyan to Aid Cincinnati

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6—(UP)—

A University of Cincinnati quintet which was accorded no better than third place in the pre-season ratings today was in a position to win its first undisputed Buckeye conference basketball ship since 1925.

Cincinnati won its fifth straight conference game last night when it nosed out Miami 36 to 34 in a game at Cincinnati.

The triumph enabled the Bearcats to keep their conference record spotless and increase their league lead as Ohio Wesleyan, the reigning conference titlist, fell before Ohio university 42 to 29 at Athens.

Twice since 1928, Cincinnati has had a share in the Buckeye championship. In 1929 and 1930 it divided honors with Ohio Wesleyan, but unless the Bearcat machine falls completely apart in the last half of the season youthful Tay Brown's five will be the unchallenged ruler at the end of the present campaign.

Miami, fighting to break into the league's first division, put up a stubborn battle with Cincinnati, but didn't have quite the punch to gain a victory.

Ohio's U's surprised triumph over Wesleyan sent it into second place ahead of the Bishops and a game and one-half to the rear of Cincinnati.

Wesleyan, below its championship standard all season, couldn't cope with Ohio's attack and trailed most of the game.
